

Forestry (BS)

Professional Licensure: Meets	Disclosure Statement
AL, AR, CA, CT, GA, MA, MD, ME, MI, MS, NC, NH, SC, VT, WV	The baccalaureate degree program in Forestry at Auburn University is accredited by the Society of American Foresters . The program meets educational requirements needed to obtain professional licensure. Some states have forester credentialing laws including licensing and registration statutes. Some states may accept parts of the SAF certification program including, but not limited to, passage of the examination and Continuing Forestry Education. The SAF certification program supplements or complements state programs to register or license foresters and is not a substitute for such programs. Applicants must apply and pay required fees as well as pass the Registered Foresters Exam. See the state Forester website you are interested in for more information on licensing requirements.

Professional Licensure: Not Required	Disclosure Statement
AK, AZ, CO, DC, DE, FL, HI, IA, ID, IL, IN, KS, KY, LA, MN, MO, MT, ND, NE, NJ, NM, NV, NY, OH, OK, OR, PA, PR, RI, SD, TN, TX, UT, VA, WA, WI, WY	Licensure not required.

Program Contact

State Licensure Information