The Advisors and Counselors Caucus shall be an organization dedicated to the overall concerns of students and to the professional development of advisors and counselors in order to offer the best possible services to all students on Auburn University's campus.

The objectives of this organization are:

1. Facilitate cooperation and exchange of information between persons who perform advising and counseling functions through regularly scheduled meetings and through the maintenance and distribution of an advising and counseling directory.
2. Organize and/or sponsor regular programs for the professional development of advisors and counselors.
3. Increase and improve academic support services for underrepresented groups (racial minority, non-traditional, disabled, student athletes, international, and transfer students) through informational workshops and orientation meeting sessions.
4. Encourage and support programs intended to improve student retention.
5. Provide assistance in campus planning and policy development related to the advising and counseling of students.
6. Promote, encourage, and support the professional development – both regionally and nationally – of Auburn University's campus membership.

I am committed to the purpose of this organization and agree with the objectives outlined above.
