JOB FAMILY AND FUNCTION

Job Family:	Agriculture & Forestry
Job Function:	Forestry

JOB SUMMARY

This position manages a program that provides cultural resources management services to military installations within the Center for Natural Resource Management on Military Lands (CNRMML) in the College of Forestry, Wildlife and Environment. The position provides oversight of the Cultural Resources Program within the CNRMML, supervises program managers, creates and maintains partnerships between Auburn and the U.S. Department of Defense, and fills critical knowledge gaps encountered by military installation managers

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Manages the cultural resources management program. Responsibilities include assessing the service needs of military partners and building a program capable of satisfying those needs. At minimum, the program will provide services for identifying new and managing existing archaeological sites and historic structures.
- Manages cultural resource management projects, particularly those related to archaeology and historic architecture. Responsibilities include evaluating work statements, crafting project proposals, creating detailed budgets, identifying and managing appropriate contractors, hiring and supervising staff, and ensuring projects are completed on schedule and within budget. This may include participating in the projects directly by reviewing and editing cultural resource management plans, drafting and reviewing communications with regulations and tribal partners, organizing and maintaining databases, and reviewing constructions and environmental projects for their potential impacts to sensitive cultural resources, among other duties.
- Builds and maintains productive relationships with management staff at partner military installations, contractors and consultants, and faculty and staff within the University.
- Supervises technical, support, and professional staff members to support project-specific staffing and resource requirements.
- Manages the services provided by contractors and facilitates communication between contractors, clients, and state regulatory agency staff.
- Identifies problems and deficiencies in projects and programs and recommends and/or implements solutions with military installation partners.

The responsibilities listed above show the typical duties for jobs in this classification. Actual tasks may differ depending on the department's needs. Other similar duties may be assigned with discretion of the supervisor. Not every duty will apply to every position, and the amount of time spent on each task can change based on department needs.

SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES

Supervisory Responsibility	Full supervisory responsibility for other employees is a major responsibility and includes training, evaluating, and making or recommending pay, promotion or other employment decisions.
