JOB SUMMARY

The Culinary Operations Cook is responsible for preparing and serving high-quality food for customers within the Hey Day Market Incubation Unit for the Horst Schulze School of Hospitality Management. This position supports daily culinary operations by ensuring efficient food preparation, presentation, and service while adhering to established food safety, sanitation, and quality standards. The role contributes to a positive customer experience and supports the instructional and operational goals of the hospitality program.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Assists in preparing the kitchen for daily service by setting up workstations, organizing supplies, and preparing assigned menu items according to established recipes, quality standards, and portion guidelines.
- Helps maintain a clean, sanitary, and safe kitchen environment by following food safety regulations and properly cleaning equipment, tools, and work areas.
- Supports meal service by transporting prepared food and beverages to designated service areas efficiently and safely.
- Contributes to a positive dining experience by providing courteous, timely, and customer-focused meal and beverage service.
- Assists with storing, labeling, rotating, and handling food products and supplies to maintain freshness, reduce waste, and meet safety requirements.
- Helps with receiving and organizing food and supply deliveries, verifying accuracy under supervision, and assisting with basic inventory tasks.
- Supports the sourcing of food and supply items from approved local vendors when needed, following purchasing guidelines and budget parameters as directed.

The responsibilities listed above show the typical duties for jobs in this classification. Actual tasks may differ depending on the department's needs. Other similar duties may be assigned with discretion of the supervisor. Not every duty will apply to every position, and the amount of time spent on each task can change based on department needs.
