JOB SUMMARY

The Manager of Employee Relations and Investigations plays a crucial role in fostering a positive, compliant, and equitable work environment. This position oversees employee relations, leads comprehensive investigations, and provides expert guidance on various aspects of human resources management. Working closely with the Executive Director of Campus Relations, the Manager handles complex and sensitive employee matters, including terminations, grievances, and disciplinary actions. The role ensures that all employee relations processes are conducted with the utmost integrity and fairness, fully complying with organizational policies and legal requirements.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Lead initiatives to innovate and improve employee processes, ensuring alignment with best practices and legal standards while ensuring the institution's full compliance with HR laws, policies, and procedures, proactively making independent recommendations for enhancements and improvements.
- Oversee the employee grievance process by Preparing necessary documentation and evidence for the grievance committee, ensuring the committee members are adequately trained, and representing the institution in hearings.
- Serve as a Subject Matter Expert in Employee Relations training, designing and delivering educational programs to enhance staff knowledge and compliance and effectively handle employee relations issues.
- Continuously seek opportunities to enhance existing employee relations programs and investigation processes.
- Serve on various university committees, including the University Threat Assessment Team as an alternate member, contributing expertise in employee relations and investigations.
- Collaborate with internal and external legal counsel on complex employee relations issues, providing critical insights and serving as a deponent in legal matters when necessary.
- As required, oversee the management and tracking of all assigned cases in HR Acuity, Maxient, and EthicsPoint, ensuring meticulous record-keeping and confidentiality.
- Serve as a trusted advisor to campus HR partners on HR policies, procedures, programs, and employment laws. Provide independent, expert recommendations to resolve work-related issues, including job performance challenges and disciplinary actions, while promoting a positive work environment.
- Lead investigations into employee complaints, alleged misconduct, and violations of workplace policies, ensuring thoroughness, impartiality, and compliance with legal, ethical standards, and organizational standards.
- Advise and support Campus HR partners and leaders in conducting terminations, drug testing, and other sensitive matters, ensuring compliance with organizational and legal standards.
