JOB SUMMARY

Directs the university's Behavioral Threat Assessment and Management (BTAM) Team focusing on campus safety by managing and responding to potential threats. This role coordinates a multidisciplinary team across campus and collaborates with community partners to ensure an effective approach to preventing targeted violence.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Develops and maintains policies and protocols to govern operation of the team and documentation of case management. Coordinates BTAM Team member training.
- Collaborates with community partners to address threat assessment and behavioral health concerns impacting the university and involving members of the university community.
- Responds to concerns and collaborates with members of the BTAM Team to coordinate threat assessment and management tasks and to mitigate concerns. Conducts threat assessment interviews with subjects of concern, impacted parties, and others alongside another BTAM Team member.
- Manages the shared records database, ensuring accurate documentation of all BTAM Team activities. Analyzes cumulative case data ethically to identify trends and intervention opportunities and evaluates BTAM Team effectiveness.
- Monitors team emails, phone calls, and other sources of reports. Coordinates a triage of reports concerning behaviors involving faculty, staff, students, contractors, visitors, and other individuals whose behavior may impact the campus community, escalating cases for further assessment and management as needed.
- Conducts in-depth research and compiles background information on subjects of concern using open-source intelligence (OSINT) and other methods to aid the BTAM Team's analysis. Monitors ongoing cases to ensure adherence to BTAM Team recommendations and addresses new concerns.
- Coordinates outreach to and training of the campus community about violence prevention and recognizing and responding to concerns or threats and the role of the BTAM Team. Promotes awareness of concerning behaviors and the reporting processes through marketing, presentations, and social media. Oversees the BTAM Team's website content.
- Maintains professional networks with SEC counterparts and peer institutions to stay informed on trends in higher education threat assessment.
- Oversees preparation of BTAM Team meeting agendas, compiles meeting notes, and tracks action items.

The responsibilities listed above show the typical duties for jobs in this classification. Actual tasks may differ depending on the department's needs. Other similar duties may be assigned with discretion of the supervisor.

Not every duty will apply to every position, and the amount of time spent on each task can change based on department needs.
