JOB SUMMARY

Reporting to the Director of Aircraft Maintenance, the Supervisor of Aircraft Maintenance Control & Inventory is responsible for purchasing, tracking, and maintaining inventory levels to support the AU Aviation Center. Tracks scheduled service inspections and collaborates with the maintenance supervisor and flight school designee to coordinate and manage the unscheduled and scheduled maintenance needs of the customer.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Plans and tracks scheduled maintenance inspections on Auburn University Professional Flight program aircraft. Coordinates scheduled and unscheduled maintenance events between customers and maintenance with consideration to maintenance workload, staff levels, customer needs, and minimizing aircraft downtime.
- Manages the aircraft fleet use to balance scheduled and unscheduled maintenance with respect to resource downtime, flying needs, maintenance personnel and resource availability.
- Tracks, inspects, traces, and oversees over stock-keeping units (SKUs) valued at over $400,000.00, which may require traceability by serial number, and confirmation of certificates of conformance/documentation. Assures accuracy of installed components by serial number to aircraft to meet federal airworthiness assurance requirements. Tracks, schedules, and coordinates the calibration of special tools and pieces of test equipment.
- Creates a daily aircraft status report for the school of aviation leadership and maintenance personnel which details current and upcoming aircraft availability for each department's planning purposes.
- Conducts in-house training for on-site mechanics and other personnel regarding policies, procedures, and the computer-based system for resource management system (RMS) as well as setting up accounts for personnel. Manages RMS account access for operations and maintenance personnel. Trains all personnel on proper system usage.
- Provides reports and analysis on inventory levels, costs, and discrepancies to the Director of Maintenance. Responsible for gathering and analyzing aircraft maintenance reports, identifying and resolving problems and inefficiencies.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
