JOB SUMMARY

Reporting to the Chief Advancement Operations and Strategy Officer, the Senior Director of Advancement Compliance serves as a key resource to advancement staff and campus administrators, ensuring that donor funds are successfully expended and spent according to donor intent agreements. Works collaboratively with Advancement Finance, Donor Relations, Philanthropy, and university partners, including deans, departments chairs, the endowment office, and the provost's office to maximize fund use and ensure donor compliance and stewardship.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Develops and manages a comprehensive process to identify accounts where the use of donor funds can be maximized, creating spending plans with campus partners, and works with Advancement colleagues to ensure that donor intent is accurately reflected and managed.
- Conducts account reviews with campus administrators to ensure understanding of available funds and how to follow donor intent related to accounts under their administration. Creates an ongoing process to maintain account review systems on an annual basis with Advancement and campus staff.
- Collaborates with development officers to ensure sound understanding of donor intent with regards to spending at the University.
- Develops spending plans and supervises collaborative strategy meetings with development staff and other representatives to ensure donor funds are spent appropriately and in a timely manner.
- Performs analysis on the spending of donor funds in aggregate and by department. Reviews data to identify trends at the university that can be used to educate campus administration.
- Effectively communicates the findings from periodic and ad hoc financial reviews on funds.
- Develops resources tailored to enhancing development staff understanding of key spending issues.
- Proposes long-term solutions planning for systems, technology, and business processes, including, but not limited to, financial management tools to provide visibility to donor intent and fund availability to Advancement and campus staff.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
