Job Code: KD01
FLSA status: Exempt
Job Family: Financial & Business Operations
Job Function: Accounting & Finance

Job Summary
The Director, Endowment Investment Office is responsible for leading the investment strategy implementation and financial operations of Auburn’s Endowment, including all aspects of investment operations across multiple global asset classes. Auburn's Endowment invests on behalf of Auburn University and its institutionally-related entities - Auburn University Foundation, Tigers Unlimited Foundation, and Auburn Alumni Association.

Essential Functions

1. Ensures the smooth functioning of cash movement, performance reporting, risk management, financial operations, vendor management, and administration of data and systems; communicating across a spectrum of stakeholders including the University's upper administration, financial cohorts, peer institutions, philanthropic donors, investment managers, and vendor relationships.
2. Accomplishes the investment policy objectives of the Auburn University Foundation (AUF) Investment Committee by leading the implementation and management of the Endowment, ensuring operational efficiencies and Endowment management best practices are established.
3. Oversees the management of the Endowment's investment portfolio by implementing asset allocation and manager selection decisions, completing investment due diligence, and monitoring risk management strategies.
4. Contributes substantial support to the AUF Investment Committee and its Private Capital Subcommittee by providing insights, analysis, reporting, and recommendations.
5. Collaborates with various key stakeholders, including University administrators, investment committees, donors, and other interested parties, regarding inquiries related to the University's endowment fund, promoting the impact of the endowment on the University's financial health and the ways in which it supports the institution's mission, programs, and initiatives.
6. Fosters strong relationships with the Endowment's custodian bank, investment consultant, investment managers, software providers, and other vendor relationships ensuring effective communication and collaboration so that Auburn's standard for deliverables are met.
7. Reviews portfolio performance to include analysis of investment performance, asset allocation, risk exposures, performance attribution, liquidity, and cash flow. Identifies and monitors key portfolio exposures by asset class, geographies, sectors, etc.
8. Leads and manages a team of investment professionals by providing guidance, mentorship, budget, and performance evaluations.
9. Ensures smooth and efficient operational processes related to the Endowment investment program, including trade execution, cash flow management, and reconciliation of investment data. Establishes best-in-class processes and internal controls to ensure the integrity of the financial data and to support investment team functions.
10. Completes investment fund documents, such as subscriptions, redemptions, and other forms, when establishing binding investment commitment obligations with external investment managers on behalf of Auburn's endowment.
11. Maintains the authority to transact business on behalf of Auburn University, Auburn University Foundation, and Tigers Unlimited Foundation to establish financial and investment accounts.
