JOB SUMMARY

The Manager of IT Asset Management provides strategic leadership and operational oversight for the full lifecycle of software asset and vendor management within OIT. This role directs the development and implementation of enterprise-wide frameworks for contract and license management, ensuring alignment with institutional goals, compliance standards, and fiscal responsibility. The manager collaborates with Procurement and senior leadership to guide vendor negotiations and licensing strategies, while supervising the IT Asset Management team to support performance, development, and strategic workforce planning. This position also maintains awareness of industry trends and regulatory changes, translating them into actionable strategies that support OIT's mission and stakeholder needs.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Oversees the translation of complex technical IT asset requirements into actionable business strategies by directing team efforts and ensuring documentation standards are met. Provides strategic guidance on contract evaluations and vendor negotiations in collaboration with Procurement and senior leadership.
- Aligns IT asset procurement strategies with organizational goals by leading vendor engagement, negotiating enterprise-wide licensing agreements, and ensuring compliance with budgetary and technical requirements.
- Manages the IT Vendor/IT Asset Management team, including direct supervision, performance evaluation, professional development planning, and strategic workforce alignment to meet evolving organizational needs.
- Designs and implements enterprise-wide software asset management frameworks, ensuring scalability, compliance, and alignment with institutional risk and cost-containment strategies.
- Serves as a strategic advisor to executive leadership by delivering financial insights, forecasting software asset expenditures, and shaping long-term licensing and vendor strategies.
- Leads a customer-centric culture by ensuring service delivery aligns with institutional priorities and stakeholder expectations. Accountable for team operations, acting as the primary liaison for cross-departmental initiatives and driving alignment with OIT's strategic objectives through effective communication and collaboration.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
