JOB SUMMARY

An apprentice plumber is an entry-level plumbing trainee enrolled in an apprenticeship program to learn the concepts and skills necessary to become a journey-level plumber over a three-year period. As a plumber apprentice, they will receive a combination of classroom education and paid on-the-job experience. Apprentice plumbers work under the observation of a journey-level plumber, building basic skills and gaining additional tasks and responsibilities as they improve. Plumbers must follow the International Plumbing Code and comply with State and local codes, regulations, and standards.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Learn and Develop Trade Skills: As an employee-in-training, apprentices exhibit an enthusiasm to learn and an interest in the plumbing trades field. The apprentice should display an eagerness to build their knowledge and are willing to put in the effort to develop their skills. Apprentice plumbers work under the observation of a journey-level plumber, building basic skills and gaining additional tasks and responsibilities as they improve. The apprentice plumber will learn to identify, analyze, troubleshoot, and assist with repairs of equipment and how to assemble, install, test, and maintain plumbing systems. The apprentice will learn to interpret blueprints and schematics; install piping and plumbing fixtures; update internal Facilities work order systems and client accounts; communicate and collaborate with other facilities workers and crew members.
- Attend Training Classes: Apprenticeships will require a combination of on-the-job learning, attendance, and satisfactory progress and completion of trade-related classes. Trade-related classroom training, lectures and discussions should result in satisfactory competency that leads to true craftsmanship, which is also evaluated as part of the curriculum.
