Job Function:	Communications Strategy

JOB SUMMARY

Reporting to the VP of Philanthropy, the Director, Philanthropy Communications directs the strategy, functions, and personnel related to fundraising communications for the university to include, but not limited to, campaign communications, donor-centered publications, and philanthropy messaging.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Directs targeted, persuasive communications and marketing efforts across channels to increase philanthropic gifts to the university, including major gift proposals, solicitations, impact reports, naming brochures, and other collateral.
- Provides strategy, direction, and guidance to campus communicators, advancement units, and frontline fundraisers on alumni and donor communications, collateral, and messaging that aligns with university strategy and priorities.
- Directs the administrative and functional duties of university fundraising communications, and leads staff members in disseminating messages to university constituents, alumni, and donors, both internal and external.
- Creates and directs the implementation of a university fundraising communications plan that directly supports and elevates the university's fundraising efforts.
- Directs and oversees university communications relating to fundraising, donor gifts, and donor acquisition and stewardship, as well as individual colleges and units to ensure consistent philanthropy messaging across the university.
- Guides the management and implementation of an integrated content strategy for philanthropy across multiple platforms, including fundraising print, digital, and multimedia communications at the university level, as well as for colleges and units.
- Responsible for ensuring each team member understands their role's importance to the university's mission. Ensures all established goals, objectives and milestones align with the strategy and future vision.
- Provides resources, removes barriers, and acts as an advocate for those initiating change. Enables others to grow and succeed through feedback, instruction, and encouragement.
- Promotes cooperation and commitment within a team to achieve goals and deliverables.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
