JOB SUMMARY

The Brand Manager oversees the day-to-day processes related to the Auburn University brand identity, ensuring its consistency and effectiveness across various projects. Leads brand training efforts, tracks adoption, and maintains branding assets, contributing to the university's cohesive brand presence. Collaborating both internally with the Office of Communications & Marketing team and with campus partners across all colleges and units to ensure the proper understanding, use, and adoption of Auburn's brand.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Manages the Brand Review submission process, ensuring a streamlined intake and completion process while prioritizing project needs and effectively communicating any required approvals or changes to align with brand standards. Provides consultation regarding design assistance to campus partners and team members to ensure brand compliance.
- Serves as a subject matter expert regarding brand standards, guidelines, and processes, offering valuable insights and advice to campus partners and colleagues.
- Leads brand training initiatives across campus, developing training plans, modules, and conducting training sessions in regards to understanding the branding and how to apply elements to communications. Monitors and tracks training progress while identifying opportunities for improvement.
- Monitors brand adoption through surveys, brand reviews, and other methods to ensure alignment with adoption goals, addressing any gaps in the process.
- Maintains the branding elements in the Brand Center/Digital Asset Management system, ensuring current assets and information are available and making necessary updates as needed.
- Collects and reviews feedback from campus partners to enhance branding input and address evolving needs.
- Monitors the Brand Support email inbox, promptly addressing brand-related inquiries and issues.
- Maintains the inventory of internal branded promotional items, including research, pricing, proper brand application, and ordering.
- Performs other duties as assigned.
